

University of Constantine 3

Faculty of Arts and Culture

THERE ARE THREE COURSES IN THE UNDER-GRADUATION LEVEL:

1/ Fine Arts

Course description: aimed at giving technical and academic knowledge, this course is tailored to give the students the adequate abilities to produce art in all its dimensions and varieties; painting, drawing, sculpture, design and to be able to master the theoretical background that leads them to criticise the different artistic productions. It is a course that possesses two dimensions; the theoretical one and the practical one. The modules in this course englobe for example the history of art, Arab calligraphy, painting, sculpture, the science of colours, the schools of art, the analysis of works of art, photography, museology.

Course duration: 3 years

Degree awarded: Licence L.M.D.

Entry requirements: The baccalaureate degree and a required level.

Continuation of studies: there is a Master in Advertising in this faculty and other specialities in relationship with fine arts that exist in all the other art departments in different Algerian universities.

Career opportunities: Work in various economic and media institutions interested in producing, designing and distributing media such as radio, television, newspapers and social media. / Opening small and medium businesses and establishments specialized in the field of arts, culture and advertising. / Employing graduates in universities and in various educational institutions and cultural centres (schools, youth homes and vocational training) to teach art education. / Specialization in organizing various cultural performances and events, especially those related to plastic arts. / Managing and organizing animation activities at the universities and local cultural institutions.

2/ Theatre Studies

Course description: aimed at giving technical and academic knowledge, this course is tailored to give the students the adequate abilities to produce dramatic art in all its dimensions and varieties; dramatic writing, scenography, theatre critic, play directing and to be able to master the theoretical background that leads them to criticise the different visual performances and plays. It is a course that possesses two dimensions; the theoretical one and the practical one. The modules in this course englobe for example drama theory, theatre directing, theatre criticism, drama writing, art of acting, comparative theatre, scenography.

Course duration: 3 years

Degree awarded: Licence L.M.D.

Entry requirements: the baccalaureate and a required level.

Continuation of studies: there is a Master in “Scenography” in this faculty and other specialities in relationship with dramatic studies that exist in all the other art departments in different Algerian universities.

Career opportunities: Work in various economic and media institutions interested in producing, designing and distributing media such as theatres, cultural houses, cultural centres, television, and social media. / Opening small and medium businesses and establishments specialized in the field of arts, culture and visual performances. / Employing graduates in universities and in various educational institutions and cultural centres (schools, youth homes and vocational training) to teach dramatic education. / Specialization in organizing various cultural performances and events, especially those related to theatre. / Managing and organizing animation activities at the universities and in various local cultural institutions.

3/ Cinema Studies

Course description: aimed at giving technical and academic knowledge, this course is tailored to give the students the adequate abilities to produce art related to the cinema in all its dimensions and varieties; cinema directing, cinema acting, cinema editing, cinema criticism and to be able to master the theoretical background that leads them to study and criticise the different cinematic productions. It is a course that possesses two dimensions; the theoretical one and the practical one. The modules in this course englobe for example movie theory, schools of cinema directing, cinema criticism, film analysis, art of acting, movie editing, cinematography.

Course duration: 3 years

Degree awarded: Licence L.M.D.

Entry requirements: the baccalaureate and a required level.

Continuation of studies: there will be soon a Master in relation to cinema studies and documentary in this faculty and there are other specialities in relationship with cinema studies that exist in all the other art departments in different Algerian universities.

Career opportunities: Work in various economic and media institutions interested in producing, designing and distributing movies and documentaries such as cinematheques, theatres, cultural houses, cultural centres, television, and social media. / Opening small and medium businesses and establishments specialized in the field of visual arts, culture and visual performances. / Employing graduates in universities and in various educational institutions and cultural centres (schools, youth homes and vocational training) to teach cinema education. / Specialization in organizing various cultural performances and events, especially those related to cinema. / Managing and organizing animation cinematic activities at the universities and in various local cultural institutions.

THERE ARE TWO COURSES IN THE GRADUATION LEVEL:

1/ Theatrical scenography

Course description: aimed at giving technical and academic knowledge, this course is tailored to give the students the adequate abilities to produce dramatic art in all its dimensions and varieties and to be able to master the theoretical background that leads them to criticise the different theatre performances. It is a course that possesses two dimensions; the theoretical one and the practical one. The modules in this course englobe for example art of scenography, scenography in theatre, the art of make-up and masks, photography, theatre lighting, costume design, theatre discourse analysis.

Course duration: 2 years. Three semesters by course plus the writing of a dissertation in the last semester or the achievement of a project.

Degree awarded: Master L.M.D.

Entry requirements: The Licence degree and a required level for classification.

Continuation of studies: there are many PhD offers in relationship with dramatic studies and scenography that exist in all the other art departments in different Algerian universities.

Career opportunities: Work in various economic and media institutions interested in producing, designing and distributing media such as theatres, cultural houses, cultural centres, television, and social media. / Opening small and medium businesses and establishments specialized in the field of arts, culture and visual performances. / Employing graduates in universities and in various educational institutions and cultural centres (schools, youth homes and vocational training) to teach dramatic education. / Specialization in organizing various cultural performances and events, especially those related to theatre. / Managing and organizing animation activities at the universities and in various local cultural institutions.

2/ Advertising

Course description: aimed at giving technical and academic knowledge, this course is tailored to give the students the adequate abilities to produce art in all its dimensions and varieties; design, selling, e-commerce and to be able to master the theoretical background that leads them to criticise the different artistic productions. It is a course that possesses two dimensions; the theoretical one and the practical one. The modules in this course englobe for example colour semiology, cultural and artistic entrepreneurship, graphic design, photography, the art of virtual design, artistic criticism, the public and reception.

Course duration: 2 years. Three semesters by course plus the writing of a dissertation in the last semester or the achievement of a project.

Degree awarded: Master L.M.D.

Entry requirements: The Licence degree and a required level for classification.

Continuation of studies: there are many PhD offers in relationship with art studies and advertising that exist in all the other art departments in different Algerian universities.

Career opportunities: Work in various economic and media institutions interested in producing, designing and distributing media such as radio, television, newspapers and social media. / Opening small and medium businesses and establishments specialized in the field of arts, culture and advertising. / Employing graduates in universities and in various educational institutions and cultural centres (schools, youth homes and vocational training) to teach art education. / Specialization in organizing various cultural performances and events. / Managing advertising campaigns and producing leaflets, wallpapers, banners and all the supports linked to adverts. / Giving advice to different institutions in relation with advertising their services.

00000000000000